

“Osprey Hour” Presentation

Wareham Land Trust and Mass Audubon South Coast Sanctuaries are pleased to host a riveting presentation by ornithologist Katelyn Depot highlighting her experience with ‘Osprey hacking’ in Massachusetts and Illinois. The hacking project is an ongoing recovery effort involving the relocation of chicks from healthy Osprey populations to locations where the species is endangered.

Participants will also learn how anyone can get involved with Osprey research and conservation in Wareham from Wareham Land Trust’s Stewardship Coordinator, Mike Perrin. This event is supported by the Wareham High School Environmental Club.
